REED NAMED FOR SUPREME COURT

BONNET MEETS OPPOSITION OF THE SOCIALISTS

Despite Obstacles
He Continues His Efforts

FRENCH CRISIS

BULLETIN
Paris, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Georges Bonnet today formally accepted the task of forming a new government for France.

The financier-diplomat definitely agreed to carry out President Albert Lebrun's commands after a day of political maneuvering. Shortly before Bonnet went to the Elysee palace the radical-socialists, second largest party in the chamber of deputies, had approved his formation of a government on the condition it would be a people's front coalition—the union of Communist, Socialist and Radical-Socialist parties.

Paris, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Determined Socialist opposition today thwarted efforts of Georges Bonnet, radical-socialist premier-designate, to reform France's shattered people's front into a government under his leadership.

Leon Blum, leader of the Socialists and head of the original people's front government, flatly told Bonnet his party could not support a cabinet formed to carry out Bonnet's conservative solution for the grave labor and economic troubles that forced Premier Camille Chautemps to resign early yesterday.

Bonnet, nevertheless, continued his efforts to whip enough parliamentary support into line to tell President Albert Lebrun he had succeeded in forming a new government.

People's Front
The 47-year-old financier-diplomat sandwiched a talk with Edouard Daladier, retiring radical-socialist defense minister, between conferences with Rene Brunet, financial undersecretary, and former Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour, leader of the new Socialist and Republican Union party.

In the corridors of the chamber of deputies it was said frankly any cabinet combination Bonnet might form would be opposed by Socialists. The three parties make up the people's front.

Since Bonnet's success under such circumstances was considered impossible, Albert Sarraut, a senate leader of the democratic left, who was considered the next choice, started unofficial consultations.

Ask Uniform Laws for Truckers Here

Approximately 50 truckers attended the public hearing of the Uniform Motor Vehicle Laws commission, held yesterday in the Hotel Kankakee, to offer suggestions to the commission on a proposed new truck and bus code which will be drawn up in the near future. Each was interviewed individually.

All agreed that the state should adopt uniform laws which would provide fair competition for all commercial vehicles. State officials present included: Lieut.-Gov. John Stelle, McLeanboro; Sen. Louis J. Menges, East St. Louis, chairman of the commission; Representative Thomas A. Brennan of Rock Island; Senator Louis E. Beckman of Kankakee; Representative George Allen of Briceville; and Charles F. Mansfield of Springfield, secretary of the commission.

Motorists Agitate Removal of Federal Gasoline Taxes

"If congress really wishes to bring about some measure of tax relief, it should start by eliminating the federal taxes on motorists who already are being heavily taxed by the states," declared G. E. Garthwait, chairman of the Kankakee county executive committee of the Illinois Petroleum Industries group, in a statement today.

Commenting on the recent proposals to eliminate luxury taxes and to retain the federal taxes on gasoline, oil, motor vehicles and accessories, Garthwait said that congress passed these federal levies in 1932 when internal revenue was at its depression low and indicated that they were only temporary. "The motorists of the nation have contributed approximately $1,600,000,000 in these special taxes and should now be entitled to relief from them," he stated. "Contrary to popular thought, motorists as a class have no extraordinary ability to pay taxes."

WORLD PEACE OPPORTUNITY LOST BY U. S.

Economic Confer- ence Was Destroyed by Our Government

San Francisco, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, discussing a proposed eight-point program of "American policies for peace" today charged the present United States government "destroyed" an opportunity to promote a world peace based on economic prosperity.

"I do not need to emphasize that prosperity of nations is the best sedative to hate," said Mr. Hoover in declaring the world has been engaged "in an open or submerged trade war since 1933."

His charge against the administration was made in connection with the seventh point of his program, a policy of American cooperation "in every sane international effort to advance the economic and social welfare of the world."

Opportunity Destroyed in 1933
The unparalleled opportunity to have brought some measure of economic peace was lost when the world economic conference was delayed and finally destroyed by our government in 1933," the former president declared.

Mr. Hoover, who will sail from New York February 8 to visit the field of his war-time relief activities in Belgium, spoke before the San Francisco section of the Women's

DAN BERGAN TO BE A CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

Popular Detective
Seeks Nomination
in Primary

AS REPUBLICAN

Republican precinct committeemen and numerous personal friends of Dan Bergan, 392 South Nelson avenue, are circulating the petitions of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Kankakee county in the coming primary.

Dan Bergan, a young man with a wide acquaintance, is especially well qualified for the office he seeks and for which he has been endorsed by precinct committeemen and voters.

He has been city detective on the Kankakee police department the past three years and has made an unusually efficient and popular officer. His position on the police department has been a very important one, giving active experience in all phases of anti-criminal activities and in administrative and legal work, all of this being splendid training for the office of sheriff.

Has the Ability
He has demonstrated a striking ability for, and a great interest in, this type of career and has shown himself to be a man of good judgment, dependability and absolute honesty. He is no amateur officer, but an experienced, qualified and trustworthy executive in a specialized kind of work. In every way, he is an outstanding candidate for a very important office.

Two years ago Mr. Bergan was elected assistant supervisor of Kankakee township on the Republican ticket. In that election, public recognition of his fine qualities and his very large personal following gave him a splendid vote. Since that time he has been an active and highly respected member of the county board, gaining an experience in county affairs that will be invaluable as sheriff.

Voters Like Him
Dan Bergan is assured of the support of practically all of the Republican precinct committee of the county and of large numbers of voters, regardless of party, who are anxious to see the election of an active, capable young man who has demonstrated his ability and integrity. In Mr. Bergan they have found an ideal candidate.

Open Bridge East of Manteno Monday

The pouring of concrete for the new bridge west of Whitaker on county road No. 9 between Manteno and Whitaker has been finished for the winter. It was said today by H. D. Tyson, county superintendent of highways.

The bridge, practically completed except for the approaches, will be ready for use on Monday. It was said. Stone will be used for the approaches until spring when the concrete slabs will be poured.

The first concrete for the new bridge over Baker creek between Kankakee and Aroma Park was poured today. The traffic on this road is now being carried by a by-pass.

The bandits entered the Euclid Curby garage and took a small amount of money from the cash register, pried the lock off the Louis Baron store but apparently didn't take anything, then went to the Ronald Curby store and smashed the window in the front door.

This awakened Joseph Lareau, sleeping in his quarters above the store. The bandits fled in their car. Sheriff Phil Brown was notified.

3 Injured in Bad Accident Near Crescent

Watseka, Jan. 15.—(RN Special)—C. B. Nowell, 64, of Joliet and his wife, 67, were apparently seriously injured in an automobile crash at 9:30 o'clock this morning on highway 49 seven miles south of Crescent City.

Adolph Munsterman Jr. of Woodworth was hurt in the same accident but not seriously. All three are patients in the Duquesne hospital here.

Mr. and Mrs. Nowell were enroute to Florida and were being followed in another car by their granddaughter Mrs. P. M. Sweden of Joliet and her daughter, Marjorie and Margaret.

On the curve in the highway near the Woodworth junction the Nowell car struck the automobile of Munsterman, who was coming north around the curve. Mrs. Nowell was thrown through the windshield and her husband against the steering wheel.

The Sweden car struck the rear of the Nowell car after the first crash but the occupants escaped injury.

Judge Finds Fraud Existed in the Sale of Manteno Farm

Dr. R. C. Buholz, Chicago physician, who several months ago lost a suit in which was involved Albert Jacobs, Manteno township farmer, has now won a second suit brought against him by Jacobs.

Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter, who heard the second suit recently, has awarded the physician a reduction of $1,700 on the mortgage he owed Jacobs.

The doctor, some time ago purchased a 170-acre farm in Manteno township from Jacobs. When he took possession, he claimed afterward, some cows and farm equipment which he had believed included in the sale were not on the farm.

He later found the cows in the possession of Charles Barnes, against whom he filed a replevin suit, which he lost. Barnes claimed he had purchased the cows from Delbert Jacobs, son of Albert, before the sale of the farm.

The physician refused to pay the final $17,000 on the mortgage he owed Jacobs, claiming that Jacobs owed him that much for the property he said was missing. Jacobs brought suit for foreclosure.

Awarding the doctor the reduction in the amount of the mortgage, the court ruled to the effect that fraud had been practiced in the sale of the farm.

Dr. Buholz was represented by Attorney Noel Diamond and Jacobs by Attorney Anker C. Jensen.

This awakened Joseph Lareau, sleeping in his quarters above the store. The bandits fled in their car. Sheriff Phil Brown was notified.

Bids Insufficient, Sale is Postponed

The proposed public sale of the Bourelle property at Fifth avenue and Station street as the result of a circuit court partition suit was not completed at the courthouse this morning.

The best bid of $16,000 for the property, a seven-room house standing on a half lot, was not considered sufficient by Attorney Harry Streeter, special master-in-chancery.

The sale was the result of a suit by heirs of Celestin Bourelle, former owner of the property, against other heirs and there is a circuit court decree of partition.

Attorney E. J. LaMarre represented the plaintiffs in the suit while Attorney Fred Blith represented minor defendants.

Grand Regent Visits Moose Women Here

(Picture on Page 8)
Mrs. Margaret Johnson, of Chicago, who was appointed third grand regent of the college of regents at the 1937 annual international conference of the Women of the Moose in Cleveland, will be guest of honor of the local chapter Monday evening at the K. of C. hall. Mrs. Edith Vadeboncoeur is senior regent of the Kankakee chapter.

This will be Mrs. Johnson's official visit to Kankakee and the chapter at this time will observe a guest night when members of lodges in this district will assume the various offices. The senior regent-escort will exemplify the ritual and initiate a class of candidates. Guests are expected from all parts of the district.

Mrs. Johnson's experience in chapter activities has given her an understanding of the chapter development program in which she will instruct the local chapter Monday night. She is a past regent of Greater Chicago chapter, having been senior regent for two consecutive years. She has also served on various committees and is especially commended for her record as chairwoman of library work. In this capacity she was instrumental in having the Illinois men and women of the Moose and the Iowa women contribute five sets of educational books valued at $700 to Mooseheart library.

Mrs. Johnson is a business woman having a lingerie shop which she owns and operates and previously had been an interior decorator.

Farm Owner Fails in Ouster Action

A jury in the court of Magistrate Edward Hoenicke yesterday decided that Walter Fiecke, tenant on the farm owned by Marie W. Robertson, south of Mokena, did not violate the terms of his lease, as she had contended, and therefore could not be lawfully evicted. Notice of an appeal to county court was immediately filed.

Mrs. Robertson leased her 200-acre farm to Fiecke in 1936 for a four-year term, but in a civil suit yesterday, she sought to evict him on charges that he had violated the terms of his contract by failing to cut weeds, permitting calves to get in the corn, hauling manure off the farm to another field, and other items of a minor nature. She was represented by Attorney Vernon Butts.

Fiecke, with Attorneys Eva Minor and W. W. Parish as counsel, denied every allegation. Defense witnesses were introduced to show that Fiecke had men working three days pulling weeds, that he allowed $2 an acre for damages caused by the calves getting in the corn, and that he hauled away only the bottom part of soybean stacks for fertilizer and this was subsequently replaced with 60 loads of fodder. A dozen witnesses, all neighbors, testified for both sides in the trial which lasted all day.

The jurors were Velge McIntyre, Andrew Gregg, George Gordon, Louis Ogilvie and Joe Williams. The case was tried with only five jurors by agreement of counsel.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(RN Special)—Seniors of Kankakee high schools were given a chance today to become "G" men.

The civil service commission announced a competitive examination open to high school seniors, for positions as student fingerprint classifiers, in the federal bureau of investigation. The job pays $1,440 a year.

Graduates of the local high school also may take the exam, which will be held at Kankakee on a date yet to be specified, provided they are not more than 25 years old. No one under 18 will be permitted to compete for the jobs and no women will be accepted.

NOMINATION IS SUBMITTED TO SENATE TODAY

Solicitor General to Succeed George
Sutherland

SURPRISE MOVE

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt chose Solicitor General Stanley Reed today to succeed Associate Justice George Sutherland as a member of the supreme court. The 53-year-old attorney can take the seat, upon confirmation by the senate, at any time after January 18, when the retirement of the 75-year-old Sutherland becomes effective.

Reed is the second man to be named to the high bench by Mr. Roosevelt. His selection clinches the shift of the court's complexion from conservative to liberal.

Several senators greeted the appointment with quick words of praise but it was generally believed that the senate judiciary committee would go thoroughly into Reed's qualifications before a vote on confirmation finally is taken.

Recalls Black Controversy
Many senators who have been critical of the administration, including leaders in the fight last year against the president's court reorganization proposal, remember bitterly the controversy which flared over Mr. Roosevelt's first court selection—Hugo L. Black, who before his elevation to the bench was Democratic senator from Alabama.

Chairman of the senate judiciary committee immediately referred Reed's nomination to a subcommittee for study. The subcommittee was expected to start considering it at once. Many senators predicted the group would hold hearings.

Reed himself issued a statement shortly after his nomination. It was four words long: "I am deeply grateful."

Cardozo Seriously Ill
Meanwhile, Justice Benjamin Cardozo, long considered one of the court's most consistent liberal members, lay seriously ill of heart trouble.

Informed persons expressed a belief that he faced a lengthy illness and that his retirement from the court was a distinct possibility.

Such a development would give Mr. Roosevelt opportunity to make a third appointment—a far step toward the accomplishment of the major aim of his court reorganization plan. By that defeated proposal he would have obtained the right to appoint six new justices to the court if those over 70 did not retire.

Black's nomination went to the senate last August following the retirement of Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter. Administration forces, bolstered by the tradition that the nomination of a senator is accorded courtesy confirmation, overrode those who raised opposition and demanded investigation.

Local Hudson Car Dealers See New Model Unveiled

Jeffers & McBroon have just returned from a meeting in Chicago where the new Hudson 112 was unveiled for the first time in this vicinity. W. L. Tracy, from the Hudson factory in Detroit, was on hand for the ceremony and stated that the factory is already swinging into full production, and that shipments of this new entry in the lowest price field are now being made.

The announcement of this new car, along with the fact that Hudson is now setting out a new line of cars and retrenchment had become common, the announcement was hailed as introducing a new optimistic note into the general business situation.

Jeffers & McBroon who, with other dealers from this part of the country, had their first look at the new Hudson 112 will be made here. They state that the new car is a real advance in the matter of size, roominess and appearance, and that it is a real advance in the matter of safety features. The new car is expected to be priced at a lower price than the previous model.

The meeting at Chicago was one of the most important of the year for the country from coast to coast during the next ten days to show the new Hudson 112 to the public.

In the matter of public interest for such announcements, front page stories in the Chicago Tribune, the largest cities of the country, gave the announcement by President-elect Roosevelt, and the fact that the new Hudson 112 was being shown by the Jeffers & McBroon, who have already reached the factory in Detroit, and who are now preparing for the balance of the winter has already been assured, Mr. Tracy stated.

Teach Him to Be a Church Goer

As you hold that bundle of love and happiness... what plans you make for his future... secretly cherishing the thought of him attaining the Presidency... being a great business man... you follow him through school days... making the team... graduating... and so through life. You know well that what he is to be depends much on what you teach him in his youth.

Teach him to be God-fearing and Church-going... let him know the fine associations of church... Then, too... set him the example of you yourself going to church... each Sunday make your church a haven where you find rest and contentment... be a regular church goer... such an influence is sure to make of him what you have pictured... a Christian... a leader... your pride.

This Sunday go to church... start now to be a regular church attendant... and that will "Teach Him to Be a Church Goer."

Why Not Come to Church This Sunday?

Youngsters Will be Forgiven for Their 'Elopement'

Miami, Fla., Jan. 15.—(UP)—Paroled fugitives were promised today for two Indiana grade-school sweethearts who ran away from home last week and tried their 1300 mile trip out of state and ended up asleep in a car on the ocean-front.
The parents arrived here from Bremen, Ind., and prepared to go into juvenile court today where Judge Walter H. Beckham will waive a technical reformatory sentence imposed on the run-aways and return them to their parents.
The young sweethearts, Edwin Keyser, 13, and Lowell Mast, 14, disappeared from their home in Bremen eight days ago. They said they were "in love and wanted to go off on a long trip together."
Lowell's father, Wilbur Mast, acted as spokesman for the parents of the run-aways.
"They are forgiven, if they have learned their lesson," he said. "We are all going back and work this thing out together."

YOUNGSTERS Will be Forgiven for Their 'Elopement'

Richest Girl in the World

CHAPTER X

Several weeks had passed, the snow had long since melted, the men were back once more at work on Bret's bridge, and Connie was now an integral part of her surroundings.

Each morning Bret called for her to drive the three miles to the c. p. each evening drove her back. Connie loved the excitement and bustle, the male teams with their burlly drivers, the husky mountaineers with their sturdy muscles and soft drawing tails, the whistle of the freight train, unloading steel and materials, the log-cabin office with its old-fashioned wood stove, Pop Walters with his shining grey hair and invariable package of snuff. Most of all she loved the sense of being a part of the job, the feeling that she, too, was helping to build things, to create, she could understand Bret's enthusiasm, why he felt that this was his work.

She marvelled now at that girl who had been so sure of herself, so sure that she was the richest girl in the world, so sure that she was the richest girl in the world, so sure that she was the richest girl in the world.

Of course there was a reason for these conclusions, for this feeling of being a part of the job, the feeling that she, too, was helping to build things, to create, she could understand Bret's enthusiasm, why he felt that this was his work.

Connie was not sure just when she had fallen in love with Bret, but she knew that it had happened the first moment when he had looked her in the eyes, and she had known that she was in love with him.

It did not matter, all she knew was that she was in love with him, and she was in love with him, and she was in love with him.

She was glad that she had met him, and she was glad that she had met him, and she was glad that she had met him.

He had been so kind to her, so kind to her, so kind to her, and she was glad that she had met him.

He had been so kind to her, so kind to her, so kind to her, and she was glad that she had met him.

Gangland and penitentiary life, roaring newspaper offices in big cities, and romance in the country are mingled in a dramatic plot in "The Last Gangster," in which Edward G. Robinson comes to the Paramount theater Sunday in the story of a man's term in prison and the effect on his family.

James Stewart, Rose Stradner, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's glamorous discovery from Vienna, Lionel Stander, and others of note surround America's "Number One Gangster Star" in the new drama.

"The Last Gangster" deals with the downfall of a gang overlord trailed by the "G-Men," jailed on an income tax fraud indictment and imprisoned for ten years, during which time his wife changes her identity to save their child from the disgrace of his name. She remarries. He emerges into a new world and through a series of dramatic developments works out his own regeneration.

Unlike usual gangster pictures, the story deals with the motives and emotions of a criminal rather than his actions. Edward Ludwig directed. A vicious riot in a prison mess hall, a grim trip in an armored prison car, details of prison life, workings of newspaper offices, gangland hideouts and other vivid scenes provide the background for the central love theme as enacted by Stewart and Miss Stradner, the latter playing the gangster's disillusioned wife, the former a newspaper man who befriends her and with whom she finds happiness in eventual marriage.

With Lionel Stander playing the gang overlord's chief lieutenant, the supporting cast includes little Douglas Scott as Robinson's son, John Carradine, Sidney Blackmer, Grant Mitchell, Edward S. Brophy, Alan Baxter, Frank Conroy and Louise Beavers.

"The Last Gangster" is based on an original story by William A. Wellman and Robert Carson with the screen play by John Lee Mahin.

When Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray took their places before the cameras to start making their current film, "True Confession," they established some sort of modern Hollywood record as a team.

Not that teams are unknown in Hollywood. Even back as far as the old days of silent films, Norma Talma and Eugene O'Brien were known as the inevitable boy-and-girl duo. A little later came Dorothy Mackall and Jack Mulhall. But in recent times, combinations which have made certain something which they established as a team.

Their first co-starring film was Paramount's "Hands Across the Table," released just about two years ago. The picture wasn't considered very "big," it was well entertained, the studio thought, but the star names weren't important enough to make the picture sensational.

Without any fanfare or fireworks, "Hands Across the Table" was released. Then the fireworks, in the form of boxoffice returns began. In no time at all, the picture had leaped to the very top of the big-movie class.

This time the producers began to sit up and take notice. A look of hope began to dawn in their eyes. Maybe, just maybe, this isn't a coincidence, they thought. Keeping their fingers crossed, they put Miss Lombard and MacMurray in "Swing High, Swing Low." And did they come in! "Swing High, Swing Low" turned out to be just what the doctor ordered! The film made every body in pictures realize that Lombard-MacMurray was as natural a team as fair-weather, boy-and-girl and dark-and-handsome.

Co when Paramount started to make "True Confession," the picture based on the famous French play, "Mon Crime," by Louis Verneuil and Georges Berr, studio officials realized that the story of a born liar married to the most honest lawyer in the world was made to order for Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray. "Nothing but the best for 'True Confession,'" became the order of the day.

The strife and courage that marked the birth of the American oil industry form a stirring background for one of the most touching love stories of the screen in "High, Wide and Handsome," which opens tonight at the owl show at the Luna theater and continues Sunday through Tuesday.

The romance of Irene Dunne, a spirited young carnival singer, and Randolph Scott, a Pennsylvanian, inarticulate farmer of Pennsylvania, is motivated throughout by oil which brings them together, almost smashes their love, and finally reunites them.

Miss Dunne comes into Scott's life for the first time when a medicine show in which she sings comes to Titusville, his home town. It is not until Scott has had a fight with Charles Bickford over Miss Dunne that the two realize that they love each other.

They are married, and full of plans for their new life together, when Scott, who has drilled the first oil well in the country, strikes oil. Immediately the birth of the new business becomes a fascinating thing that forces him away from his new wife. Night and day he labors to bring the oil that he and his neighbors pump from the earth closer to the poor people who are to be its consumers. But Miss Dunne, neglected, feels that her husband is doing her a great wrong by not sharing his problems with her. Gradually she finds that the love to which she had decided to devote her life is gone and that her husband has become almost a silent stranger.

Scott, to outwit the railroads, whose prices are being raised in an effort to ruin and gain control of the new industry, has started work on a pipe line to the refineries, which he hopes will obviate the use of the railway altogether. His absorption in the line becomes the factor that keeps him away from his wife. The pipe line becomes, in effect, the third side of a triangle. Soon Miss Dunne, who is unable to stand her husband's withdrawal from her, and the dull emptiness that is her life, runs off to sing in a carnival again, in hopes of finding some gayety and color in life once more.

At that point everything is against Scott. The railroads are fighting him with all their money and influence, and with hired thugs who try incessantly to break up the pipe line. Finally the pipe line, which must be finished in a day, runs into a huge cliff. There is not time to go around the cliff, so the farmers set to work to build their line over the projection. It is at this spot that the railroad sends its army of hoodlums to fight off the farmers and destroy the line.

Miss Dunne hears about the planned attack on her husband's men.

Robinson's "Last Gangster"

He started it and evidently he's in "Little Caesar" and now he's going to finish it! There might have been other gangsters, but none of them were as authentic in characterization as Edward G. Robinson.

Being married to your job is nothing new but the number of men grass-widowed by the depression is no less than tragic.

The traffic safety "spy" system has been abandoned in Belleville, N. J., evidently on the theory that most drivers don't recognize the password anyway.

The China war has had 11 incidents, more than enough for a plot to make a long story short.

Now is the time for all good little Communists to write in to Santa and demand their Christmas presents.
